

Situation 1:

A child has a toothache. Mom takes the child to see a dentist.
Now, the child is sitting in front of the dentist.

Role A: The child

You love sweets. You brush your teeth twice a day but don't like to floss. Now you are having a toothache right after having a cup of ice cream. Your mom takes you to see the dentist.

- Tell the dentist what is wrong with you.
- Tell the dentist which tooth is hurt.
- Respond to the dentist's questions.

Role B: The Dentist

A kid looks upset and is sitting in front of you.

- Find out what is wrong with the patient.
- Inform the patient your diagnosis and recommended treatment after examining the patient's teeth.
- Find out the patient's hygiene habits.
- Provide some suggestions.

Situation 2:

A student cannot see the whiteboard clearly in the classroom for couple months.
The teacher suggests Mom taking the child to have a vision checkup.

Role A: The child

You love to read and go on internet. Recently, you keep complaining that you cannot see the whiteboard clearly in the classroom, so your mom takes you to see an eye doctor.

- Tell the dentist what is wrong with you.
- Express what you think when the doctor tells you the recommended treatment.
- Respond to eye doctor's questions.

Role B: The Eye Doctor

A kid is sitting in front of you. Your mom takes you to see your dentist.

- Inform the patient your diagnosis and recommended treatment.
- Find out how much time the patient spend on reading, watching TV, playing video games, or using computer.
- Give the patient your advices about how to protect his/her eyes.

Situation 3:

A student doesn't feel well during the recess.
The teacher comes to find out what is wrong with him/her.

Role A: The teacher

One of your students seems not feeling well during the recess. You come to the student trying to find out what is wrong with him/her.

- Start a conversation by asking the student what is wrong with him/her.
- Ask detailed questions to find out all the symptoms the student has.
- You see the student's eyes are very red.
- Give suggestions.

Role B: The student

You have a serious headache and stomachache during the recess. Your teacher comes to comfort you. Your mom and dad are both working. No one is home.

- Tell your teacher you are not feeling well.
- Respond to your teacher's questions.

Examples of Language to Be Used:

你的眼睛怎麼了？

你每天看書(電視、電腦)看多久？

我的眼睛看不清楚。

我每天看書看兩小時。